

Cyan Class

What a great Spring Term we are having!

After Christmas our topic was 'All about Me.' We did work around the book 'Peace at Last' including playing 5 in the Bed and retelling the story using props. We also learnt about our homes by building Lego houses and textured houses, learning terms like 'chimney' and 'terrace.' We learnt about our bodies by matching x rays to body parts and thinking about what clothes to wear for different weathers.

This half term our topic is 'I am Cooking.' We all love this topic and are learning so many skills to support their independence. We have started a weekly Breakfast Club in which everyone is encouraged to cook their own breakfast. We are learning how to use a microwave and toaster safely as well as how to crack and scramble an egg and open a tin of beans. This topic has been a great opportunity for some of us to develop our tolerance of touching, smelling and tasting different foods. In ICT we have used a program called 'Choose and Cook' to find the right ingredients to make different meals.

There have been other exciting things going on this term. We have had music therapy as a whole class once a week, singing and playing different instruments including the Violin!

For Chinese New Year our class made a Chinese Dragon which we paraded around the hall for our upper school party.

We recently celebrated Science Week by carrying out a variety of exciting experiments. We made a coke and Mentos rocket, made giant bubbles and lots more!

It was lovely to see some of you for the class visits and I hope you enjoyed seeing some of the wonderful learning we do in Cyan class.
