

Activity – Parts of my body

Key areas of learning:

- Communication
- Physical education
- Science
- Computing

What you will need:

- Mirror
- Device with access to internet

Keywords:

Body parts from the song

What to do:

Parents and students will be in front of a mirror (preferably a mirror where they can see their whole body).

Parents will play head, shoulder, knees and toes on their phones, tablets or computer.

While the music is playing, parents will tap their children's body parts if they don't respond to the song. Then, parents will encourage children to attempt to touch at least one part of their body. It is time to have fun all together

Extension:

- Parents can make the questions such as: "where is your nose; your mouth, your knees etc.?" looking at their children face to face or in front of the mirror. That is an excellent time to interact with children by making eye contact.
- After the music finish parents will ask their kids
